

Friday, December 14, 2007

The Sport Dispute Resolution Centre of Canada Launches its New Website

Montréal (Québec) - The Sport Dispute Resolution Centre of Canada (SDRCC) is proud to announce the official launch of its new website. Some of the new features include thematic sections dedicated to dispute prevention and updated information and resources for dispute resolution. This new and fully bilingual website has been designed especially to facilitate navigation and to reflect the SDRCC's commitment to engage more proactively in PREVENTING disputes within the Canadian sport community. The new website also reveals the new logo and corporate image of SDRCC.

Come and visit our website at www.crdsc-sdrcc.ca now and tell us what you think! The site will be updated regularly with new information, resources, newsletters, and documents for athletes, coaches, officials, National Sport Organizations, and other members of the sport community.

From now on, you may remember the new website address solely by the organization's acronym in your preferred official language. This means that typing www.sdrcc.ca (English) or www.crdsc.ca (French) in your web browser will automatically take you to our official website.

About SDRCC

The SDRCC is a not-for-profit corporation created by federal legislation and funded by Sport Canada. The mission of the SDRCC is to provide the sport community with a national alternative dispute resolution service and strengthen the culture of fairness in Canadian sport by resolving disputes quickly and efficiently and to provide expertise and assistance regarding alternative dispute resolution.

For more information, please contact:

Marie-Claude Asselin
Executive Director and CEO
Tel: 1-866-733-7767
Mobile : (514) 465-7339
mcasselin@crdsc-sdrcc.ca