

Aaron Bruce

Aaron holds a Bachelor's Degree in Science from the University of Waterloo and a Master's Degree in Human Kinetics from the University of Ottawa. He cumulates ten plus years of experience in the Canadian sport system, currently as the Vice-President, Sport & Games with the Canada Games Council (CGC). In such role, he leads a team guiding, monitoring and evaluating Canada Games Host Organizing Committees and works closely with many national sport organizations and multisport organizations in the delivery of the Games.

His work at the CGC helped him develop strong skill sets in human resource management and strategy planning, as well as an in depth understanding of the Canadian sport system from playground to podium, including the intricate relationships between Provincial/Territorial and Federal governments. Aaron has also had the chance to work directly with the SDRCC on a number of occasions, not only as part of appeal processes on behalf of CGC, but also in close collaboration on the delivery of SDRCC educational workshops and the involvement of the SDRCC at Canada Games.

Prior to his role with the CGC, Aaron worked for Squash Canada and the Canadian Olympic Committee. He also served on volunteer committees with the 2006 Ontario Summer Games and the 2015 Pan Am Games, and most recently as Chair of the City of Ottawa Arts, Culture, Heritage and Recreation Advisory Committee.
